ABOUT ME:
I am a third-year student pursuing Information Technology at @Bvoce-Delhi Campus. I am passionate about seeking new experiences, meeting diverse people, and continuously expanding my knowledge. My ultimate goal is to create value for individuals and make a positive impact on the world through my work.

My journey in the world of programming has been exciting and rewarding. I have built a strong foundation in languages like C++ and SQL, enabling me to develop efficient and effective software solutions. I thoroughly enjoy the logical and problem-solving aspects of programming and am always eager to explore and adapt to new technologies and programming languages.

In addition to my programming skills, I have ventured into web development, where I have gained valuable expertise. I specialize in creating responsive and visually appealing websites using HTML, CSS, JavaScript, jQuery, Node.js, Express.js, EJS, Git, GitHub, and MongoDB. My proficiency in these technologies allows me to develop full-stack websites that offer seamless user experiences.
